

DECISION MAKING TECHNIQUES

CONSENSUS - most members of a group agree on one suggested project (allow members that do not agree to voice why they have reservations and ask the supporting members to address those issues)

VOTING - group members each support their preferred project; the choice with the most votes is the project or idea on which the group will work (popular vote, majority, 2/3 vote, etc.)

COMPROMISE - group members discuss possible project options and come to a decision with includes components from two or more ideas – all members should be in agreement with the compromise
