

Karen L. Crawford

Regional Advisor of the Year Award

2022- 2023

Description:

At the region and statewide levels, regional student council advisors work hard to support student council activities. They work to provide advisor and student leadership training while helping student in addressing issues at the county/city level. Many are also tasked with the facilitation of the selection of their student member on the Board of Education. All regional student council advisors contribute to the success of their regional student council. The MASC Karen L. Crawford Regional Advisor of the Year Award was created to recognize the contributions that regional advisors make to their regions and to students across the state of Maryland. While the award does single out an individual regional advisor on the state level, the purpose of the award is to highlight the many contributions made by all regional student council advisors throughout the state.

This new award was created in 2018-2019 in honor of Karen L. Crawford, at that time, the acting MASC Executive Director. Mrs. Crawford served as a regional advisor for 21 years (Montgomery County Junior Councils (MCJC) six years and Montgomery County Region of the Maryland Association of Student Councils (MCR) 15 years). After her retirement in 2014, she continued volunteering as the appointed MASC Assistant Executive Director.
